

June 24

Things were fairly quiet but wet this week at the Lake Huron Resort.

Maureen worked one day at Maitland Manor.

Percy enjoyed taking long walks followed by longer naps.

Not too many good sunsets due to the cloudy skies.

June 25

Percy enjoys watching the birds and squirrels outside of our rig.

The snowbirds came to Goderich to help celebrate the Air Cadets 30th anniversary.

We had ring side seats on the beach.

Had to wait for almost an hour to get fresh fish and chips at the fish wagon.
A little pricey but worth it.

The show almost got rained out, but despite the overcast skies we were treated to a fantastic show.

June 26

The Milverton Lions celebrated the end of the year at the Rod and Gun. Lion Rolph's granddaughter wore a special vest made by her Mom.

Great -Grandpa Daddy & Grandpa

PDG Jymmer was on hand to collect a cheque for the Children's Healing Garden.

June 27

The park got really busy as it was the Canada Day Long Weekend. We had lots of new neighbours and many activities going on.

June 28

Mike and Francine joined us for dinner. As we were sitting outside a big wind whipped up and the skies opened to dump a huge amount of rain, almost wiping out the dance party.

June 29

Much to everyone's dismay the rain just keeps coming down.

We did not pay for a lakeside lot, but we ended up with one any ways, as our front yard was flooded with the last deluge.

Many campers had it worse than others.

Some made the best of things by setting up a fish pond.

A sign offered

“Swimming with the dolphins - $2”

July 3

We took the rig to Can Am for repairs and then headed down to Windsor to pick up CJ and Charlie for a weeks vacation with Nana and Grandpa

July 4

The boys slept in their tent.

Fortunately the weather had improved with plenty of sunshine and warm temperatures.

Much time was spent riding bikes, enjoying the playground and swimming both in the pool and at the beach.

There was even time to play inside too!

CJ tried some new foods and discovered that they tasted great!

Percy loved having little guys to play with.

July 8

A day in Goderich was a special treat for everyone.

We started off with lunch at McDonalds followed by some time at Playland

Had to fill up the truck again. The price just keeps going up and up.

Next stop was the Goderich Gaol (pronounced “Jail”).

Charlie and CJ tried out the inmates beds and did not find them very comfortable.

They were not impressed with the bath facilities either.

The Governor's house next door was much nicer

Next stop was the beach play ground where there were lots of kids enjoying a game of tag.

The boys were very hot, so it was time for a dip in the lake.

A short drive down the lake we stopped at the Marine Museum

Grandpa explained how many of the things worked in the good old days.

Outside we admired the view of the harbour

The boys still had plenty of energy, so it was off to the Bridge for fantastic views of the surrounding landscapes

Back at the trailer Charlie took some time out to relax with a book

July 9

Maureen worked at the Nursing home and the boys stayed at the park to enjoy the facilities.

July 10

Back to Goderich for a tour of the Museum. Unfortunately forgot to take the camera but saw lots of neat stuff.

July 11

Time to pack things up.

After supper it was campfire time. Grandpa and the boys sang a few songs.

July 12

Time for the boys to head back to Windsor. Our neighbours next door (Dave and Brenda from Windsor) had purchased a new trailer here. Mike took the old trailer back home for them. Good thing he had a big enough truck to haul it!!!

July 13

Our last day at Lake Huron Resort. We packed it all up and headed to Milverton. We stopped at one of our favourite spots – “Bud & Ruth’s Place.”

July 14

Maureen went to work at Knollcrest and Mike did lots of errands. For some reason we awoke very early, so Maureen was able to complete her work sooner than we had planned. It was time to head off to Quebec City for the Rally.

We camped near Toronto – Glen Rouge Park. Mike had called and asked for a “no-services” site, but we were told our rig was too big. It cost $30 for electricity and water. The hydro at our site went out sometime during the night, but the park policy is “No Refunds.” Don’t think we’ll be back.

July 15

Up early and on our way. We decided to take the 401 to our next stop. We had very little trouble getting east of Toronto. The pace is somewhat less hectic to the east. After a good drive we arrived at Glengary Park near Cornwall Ontario. Again we have problems with the site. We were given a “no-services” site as requested, but it was on the crest of a hill. We moved. We learned later than we could have parked sideways, but

The new site cost more, and required some branch trimming. Also found out that we didn't need a reservation ($10 charge) because the park was less and 50% full. We're learning.

The ranger mentioned a couple of big rigs had been there until that morning.

After we arrived in Quebec, we learned that Bruce & Bill had pulled out that morning.

We met some great neighbours in the next campsite, and the view from our rig was terrific.

July 16

Easy trip to the KOA just south of Quebec City. The highway south of the river is #20, and has lots and lots of holes, and lots and lots of construction. We were the third Suite to arrive – so we got 50 amp service (yes).

“Imagine leaving your quiet campground and being transported to the streets of Paris in just 15 minutes. The Quebec City KOA is just a shuttle ride away from the winding lanes, stone buildings and mansard roofs of North America’s most charming city. Enjoy cafes, shops and galleries that suit all pocketbooks and tastes. The views are grand along Terrasse Dufferin and at the famed Château Frontenac hotel. Watch the Changing of the Guard on summer days at the Citadel.”

Yes that’s what we did, along with 7 other Suites. A big thanks to two special visiting suites: Vicki and Barry from Indiana, and John and Kelly from Can-Am

July 20

We headed home on the northern route, a bit later than expected. Bill caught his hand on his rig, and Mike took him to the hospital for stitches. There we over 40 people ahead of Bill. Bill did get his stitches – 6 of them – one for each hour of waiting. We headed out around noon.

We were impressed with the large churches in almost every little town, and they sure do like red roofs in Quebec.

We also enjoyed looking at some very strange carvings.

We stopped at “Camping Lac Lafontaine” near Saint-Jerome. Same problem – too big for the no services sites. It cost $45 for the night, including $3 for Percy. Another campground we won’t be using in the future.

July 21

We stopped in Perth Ontario at the “Last Duel” campground. It was very wet. We camping in a field, and unfortunately made some rather deep ruts.

July 22

Arrived at Green Acre Campground in Waterloo Ontario just when the rain stopped. It certainly made setting up a bit easier. We’re here for a week. Should have time to get the clothes washed, etc.
